The Alabama Network of Family Resource Centers (ANFRC) is a membership organization of nonprofit agencies that provide a wide array of services designed to protect children and strengthen families. ANFRC members are held to rigorous operational standards established by the Alabama legislature based on best practices for nonprofit management. These standards provide oversight of service delivery, fiscal management, and center administration and accountability. ANFRC envisions a state in which every family is thriving and every community has access to a strong and effective Family Resource Center. The Network is guided by these values: Stability for Children, Individualized Services, Strengths-based Partnerships, Collaborative Approach, Focus on Equity, Localized Approach, Prevention First, and Commitment to High Quality Operational Standards.

In 2021, seven new FRCs joined ANFRC, increasing the number of members to 23. The state legislature included FRCs as a line item for the first time in the state budget for fiscal year 2021 and designated $1,575,000 in state funding. The legislature subsequently nearly doubled the funding for fiscal year 2023 to $2,875,000. ANFRC is committed to a strengths-based approach to working with families and embraces the Strengthening Families Framework, with 47 FRC staff members being certified Strengthening Families trainers and regularly providing training for FRC service providers and community partners. To further embed a strengths-based approach, ANFRC has trained 60 FRC staff members in Family Centered Coaching as researched and defined by the W.K. Kellogg Foundation. ANFRC has healthy partnerships with many state agencies, including the Alabama Department of Child Abuse and Neglect, the Alabama Department of Human Resources, the Alabama Department of Education, and the Alabama Department of Mental Health.

In fiscal year 2021:
- 270 people gained employment following workforce development programs
- 768 people were trained on the Strengthening Families Framework
- 456 people received training and technical support from ANFRC

The Arizona Family Support Network has focused on training family support staff in rural and tribal communities on the Standards of Quality.

The FRCs successfully shifted to virtual programming during the pandemic and offered drive-through services or deliveries that included essentials like food, diapers, and children’s books.

FRCs are back to providing in-person services, while taking health and safety precautions. During the months Arizona has nice weather, many FRCs meet in parks and other outdoor spaces to safely bring the community back to in-person group activities.

August 2019: Secured passage of Senate Bill 436, establishing a definition of Family Resource Centers in state statute.

April 2020: Secured $3M in state COVID-19 Relief Funds to be distributed to Family Resource Centers through California Family Resource Association.

October 2020: Developed Policy Agenda.

July 2021: Established partnership with the California Training Institute to provide free Standards of Quality Certification Training.

September 2021: Secured additional $13M in Family Resource Center COVID-19 Relief Funds.

February 2022: Established Equity & Community Voice Committee.

2022: Proposed $40M for Family Resource Center funding in State Budget.

Since 2020, CFRA increased membership from 40 to 118.

CFRA distributed $16M dollars in Family Resource Center COVID-19 Relief funding to Family Resource Centers who served over 191,000 Californians from 2020 to 2022. Funds were distributed to 54 of 58 California counties and 100 grantees.

CFRA distributed $80,000 for Child Tax Credit Outreach to 16 Family Resource Center grantees in 2022.

MISSION STATEMENT:
- To connect family resource centers and allied organizations, networks, and community leaders in a member-driven, statewide network;
- To convene family-strengthening leaders for networking and working toward a shared vision;
- To communicate the value of family resource centers, networks, and programs and policies that strengthen families to policymakers and to the state.
The Family Resource Center Association (FRCA) supports Family Resource Centers (FRCs) and other partners in their vital work to help families thrive. FRCs are family-friendly access points for numerous services tailored to the culture, resources, and needs of the communities they serve and use a whole family approach to help families achieve personal and family sustainability.

As an intermediary and partner, FRCA provides training, technical assistance, data tools, and evaluation expertise to support a Network of member FRCs and other partner organizations using a comprehensive approach to strengthen families. FRCA is advancing the field of family support and strengthening with a unique, replicable model that shows statistically significant improvement in economic self-sufficiency and health.

A multi-site randomized controlled trial examining FRCA’s model of family support services was completed. The research findings will be available at the end of May 2022 on the FRCA website.

In 2020 FRCA completed an analysis of fatherhood services in Colorado for a better understanding of successes, needs and best practices in the field. In March 2022, FRCA re-launched the Colorado Fatherhood Network, a statewide practitioner network offering technical assistance, education, and support for father involvement in families, family programs, and their communities.

FRCA and its members have developed equity plans to embed equity, diversity, and inclusion principles in organizational operations and family support services.

27 Family Resource Centers utilizing FRCA’s shared database provided 166,737 services for 27,800 individuals in 13,221 families, including 94,360 services to help meet basic needs, 9,640 services to support early childhood education, 29,350 services to foster high-quality parenting, 11,560 services to further adult education and 15,160 services to cultivate healthy living. A third of those served were children.

FRCA’s Member Centers saw a 30-255% increase in service delivery in 2020 due to the pandemic.

FRCA’s 2019-2020 evaluation report determined that families served by FRCs made statistically significant gains in the areas of income, employment, food security, children’s education, child care, cash savings, debt management, housing, mental, and physical health and transportation.
The Connecticut Family Resource Center Alliance provides Family Resource Center Directors with mutual support, professional development, and legislative advocacy. The FRCs are funded by the Connecticut Department of Education as a comprehensive, integrated, community-based statewide system of family support and child development services located in public school buildings. The model is based on the Schools of the 21st Century concept developed by Dr. Edward Zigler of Yale University.

DELAWARE

MISSION STATEMENT: To strengthen the family as a whole and reduce the number of families living in poverty and those impacted by child welfare by working to identify long-standing barriers and the services and supports needed to reduce them.

Highlights

• Identified the initial implementation location where high rates of poverty exist in a Section 8 Housing and Urban Development housing development on the outskirts of the western rural community of Seaford. Hired a team leader, parent partner, and family partner to expand staffing capacity for the initiative.

• The Parent Advisory Committee has acted as a point of contact for the residents to help plan community activities and disseminate information throughout the Seaford Community of Hope.

• Delaware First Lady Tracey Quillen Carney, together with other community organizations, announced an expansion of the First Chance Delaware initiative to build on progress toward strengthening children and families and promoting community resilience in Wilmington.

Outcomes

• The Dual Generation Center assisted 12 homeless families to purchase their first home and attain stability.

• Reduced the number of students reporting as homeless by 10%.

• Stabilized over 100 families in safe, affordable rental properties.

• Connected over 60 families to mental health services.
Mayor Muriel Bowser’s Families First DC initiative is designed to disrupt the way services are provided where barriers to well-being, economic opportunity, and achievement are most acute. The Initiative launched 10 Family Success Centers in Wards 7 and 8 in October 2020. The Centers are funded through grants to community-based nonprofits that are most familiar with the families and communities where the Centers are located. They work with families to increase the overall well-being of the community to give families a fair shot in a rapidly changing city. The Network is currently coordinated by staff of the DC Child and Family Services Agency.

The Family Success Centers engaged in 9 months of planning with community members before launching.

The research questions, logic model, and theory of change were created and refined during the planning and year one of implementation.

To further enhance processes, tools, and standardization of systems, an Active Contract Management approach was adopted with the support of the Harvard Kennedy School Government Performance Lab. The approach includes continuous quality improvement, relationship building, advocacy, and reviewing/analyzing data in real time.

Data analysis indicated high need for food, so additional funding for nutrition education was provided for each site.

In 2022, the initiative expanded to an additional Family Success Center to meet the needs of another identified neighborhood in DC.

Since the launch in October 2020, more than 25,000 families have been served.

The percentage of service requests met is 80%.

Families rate their satisfaction with services at least 8 out of 10.

Protective Factors Survey data indicates growth and an increase in families’ Protective Factors.
The Florida Family Support Network is an emerging Network currently composed of three members, operating a combined total of thirteen Family Resource Centers (FRCs), across the state. The FRCs provide services that support and strengthen families, foster child development, and promote the health and safety of the community’s children. As a Member Network of the National Family Support Network, the Florida Family Support Network provides training and technical assistance, while working with organizations statewide to standardize practices that help families become stronger, healthier, and more successful.

The Network consists of a partnership with the state child welfare agency and nonprofit organizations to promote services statewide that support families and children within their own communities, to increase parenting knowledge and skills, and to offer prevention services to reduce child abuse and neglect. The nonprofit organizations are Family Advocacy Centers, Crisis Nurseries, and Parent Cafe and Share Centers.

In addition to a core service model of family-centered advocacy, mentorship, and community partnerships, the nonprofit organizations provide specific services needed in their own communities such as immigrant welcome centers, food pantries, child care, computer literacy, and substance abuse education and counseling.

Strengthening Indiana Families (SIF) is a five-year project primarily funded by the federal Children’s Bureau, Administration for Children and Families, through its Community Collaborations initiative. The project is overseen by Indiana University School of Social Work researchers and staff. Working together, the SIF steering committee coordinates the development, implementation, and evaluation of four Family Resource Centers (FRCs). Intended as a proof-of-concept for primary prevention of child maltreatment, the FRCs and associated services provide a comprehensive set of supports for Indiana families designed to improve parent and child well-being in stigma-free environments.

The Kentucky Cabinet for Health and Human Services’ Division of Family Resource and Youth Services Centers provides administrative support, technical assistance, and training to local school-based Family Resource and Youth Services Centers. The primary goal of these Centers is to remove non-academic barriers to learning as a means to enhance student academic success.

Each Center offers a unique blend of programs and services determined by the needs of the population being served, available resources, location, and other local characteristics.

A complementary nonprofit organization, the Family Resource and Youth Services Coalition of Kentucky, provides legislative advocacy, training, and support for Center Coordinators and staff.

Prevention Councils are located in each of the 16 counties in Maine coordinated by nine local community agencies. The Councils use a structured approach to build a system of support for local communities and families by focusing on primary and secondary child abuse prevention strategies. They utilize the social-ecological model and the Strengthening Families Protective Factors framework, provide evidence-based and informed curricula and supports, conduct an annual needs assessment, create an annual prevention plan, offer activities in response to unique county-specific needs, and use SMART objectives for each county. The Councils have Advisory Boards comprised of diverse community leaders, leverage community partnerships, and evaluate parenting education and professional training to ensure families’ voices are heard.

MISSION STATEMENT:
Maine Children’s Trust works to strengthen families, promote healthy relationships, and support communities to prevent child abuse and neglect.

Highlights

- The Prevention Councils have all been certified in the Standards of Quality for Family Strengthening & Support, have been recertified, have conducted the Standards Program Self-Assessment, and are working through action steps to implement strategies to move on the continuum toward High Quality.

- Prevention Councils have participated in a series of Diversity, Equity, Inclusion, and Accessibility educational opportunities provided by Maine Children’s Trust as a learning community to deepen understanding, learn how to provide support for all families, as well as provide pathways for accessing services and support that are reflected in the Standards of Quality.

Outcomes

- Prevention Councils match their programming to local needs based on annual community needs assessments and feedback from their local Advisory Boards made up of 234 local community leaders, as well as community requests.

- During the state fiscal year, the Councils:
  - provided 265 trainings for family-serving professionals that included 1,178 educators, 876 childcare providers, and 681 social services professionals.
  - assisted families through multi-session parenting education groups with 1,571 caregivers participating.
  - provided supportive environments for families to connect and share, resulting in 649 caregivers participating in support groups.
  - provided infant formula, clothing, and 13,711 diapers through partners to support families’ concrete needs.

Maryland Family Network (MFN) was originally formed in 1986 as a prevention-oriented program in response to the increasing number of children entering the foster care system. MFN has become the primary advocate for the needs of young children and their families. MFN Program components include oversight of the Network of Early Head Start Centers, Family Support Centers, and Child Care Resource Centers, referral services for parents seeking childcare for their young children, leadership training for parents, and conducting Parent Cafes. Positioned at the front end of the education continuum, MFN advocates for the interests of providing and promoting positive outcomes for Maryland’s youngest families.

• The Network has been extremely successful in providing services for families during the pandemic in virtual, in-person, and hybrid settings.
• The Network connected families to concrete resources throughout the pandemic and developed creative methods to engage families including dropping off materials for groups.
• The Network focused on conversations and actions regarding racial justice and then shifting to the need for mental health services and supports.
The Nevada Department of Health and Human Services (DHHS) funds a Network of Family Resource Centers (FRCs) that was established by legislation in 1995 (NRS 430A). The state is divided into 18 service areas, each with a FRC providing information, referrals, and case management for residents. FRCs collaborate with local and state agencies and organizations to help individuals and families access needed services and support.

In Fiscal Year 2021, Family Resource Centers focused on providing services for families within the context of the pandemic. FRCs strove to identify and support families who were at risk of sliding down into poverty.

Through funding from a Centers for Disease Control and Prevention Health Disparity grant, FRCs augmented and/or created new services to identify, outreach, and serve marginalized communities.

Highlights

- Family Support New Hampshire (FSNH) has benefitted from the 2019 designation of the New Hampshire Children’s Trust (NHCT) as the Facilitating Organization for the Network of Family Resource Centers (FRCs) in the state. This arrangement has allowed NHCT to leverage increased funding, training, technical assistance, communications, data, and advocacy for the Network.

- In 2020, NHCT developed a common data platform called the Family Support Data System, in collaboration with FRCs, state funders, and consultants. Built on a QuickBase platform, the data system is easily modified as the need for new data and reporting changes, and it represents the first and only data platform available to every FRC in the Network. The resulting functionality for reporting, accessible on a role-permissions basis by individual FRCs and state funders, has been described as a “game-changer.” The data system contains the demographic and service record data for more than 16,000 people in more than 6,400 families.

MISSION STATEMENT:
To bring together the diverse leadership from existing and newly forming Family Resource Centers and family support programs within New Hampshire under the common vision of establishing a statewide network of family support practice within New Hampshire.

MISSION STATEMENT:
To support the development, growth, and continuation of these services by providing technical assistance, training advocacy, resources and networking opportunities.

Highlights

- NJ Department of Children and Families (DCF) launched and trained all FSC Directors in the FSC Practice Profile framework.
- DCF released the FSC operations manual, which includes job descriptions, calendar development guidance, and program model essential functions.
- All FSCs implement the FSC model Guiding Principles and Essential Functions.
- In January 2022, more than half of the FSC leadership staff completed the Adverse Childhood Experiences training offered by DCF’s newly-developed Office of Resilience.
- Because of their extensive reach/connection to families during the pandemic, the FSC Network supported NJ DCF’s partnership with Baby2Baby for distribution of:
  - over 100,000 packages of diapers
  - 6,000 cases of soaps and shampoo
  - 60 cases of blankets
  - 2,000 cans of infant formula
  - 2,000 cases of baby wipes
  - over 12,000 pieces of boys and girls clothing donated from Old Navy
The New York State Office of Children and Family Services funds and administers a statewide Network of family strengthening and support programs, including a Network of Family Resource Centers (FRCs) that are operated by nonprofit agencies. These programs are embedded in communities and work closely with families, local departments of social services, and other organizations serving families. New York City’s Administration for Children’s Services developed 3 Family Enrichment Centers and committed funding to open 9 more in 2022. The new Centers are intentionally located in areas that faced greater equity-related disparities during pandemic.

Highlights

- Programs were successful in providing services for and collecting data on 2,955 adults and 1,772 children during the year.
- Since the onset of the COVID-19 pandemic, programs have prioritized addressing the increased needs of families, such as concrete supports by connecting more families to resources such as food pantries, the Home Energy Assistance Program, the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program, and Medicaid, and by delivering items to families including cleaning supplies, food, and diapers.
- As the families’ basic needs were met, the programs were able to shift attention to building capacity in other protective factors.
- Programs shifted from in-person services to virtual, or a hybrid of both, to adhere to state and national public health guidelines. This included providing services via phone, videoconferencing, texts, and providing physically distant in-person services outdoors.

Outcomes

- The Protective Factors Instrument (PFI) is used to evaluate whether programs are achieving positive outcomes for participants using a pre/post-test evaluation design. In the results of completed PFIs, families demonstrated 4.8% improvement in family functioning/resiliency, 7.1% increase in social support, 9.5% increase in concrete support, and 2.2% improvement in nurturing and attachment.
- A research study on the NYC Family Enrichment Centers indicated that:
  - Centers are having a positive impact on strengthening a range of protective factors associated with reductions in abusive behaviors and reports to child protective services.
  - Participants reported significant increases in their access to advice and resources in addressing financial issues, relationships, food and nutrition, managing stress, and parenting.

The Greater Cleveland Family Support Network continued to connect members and provide support during the pandemic. Several training opportunities were offered virtually including self-care and decolonization in Family Support practice.

The steering committee reorganized to include subcommittees covering Member engagement, Standards of Quality Training, and National Family Support Network engagement.

The Network is increasing its presence throughout the state and partnering with the newly-formed Groundwork Ohio advocacy organization.

MISSION STATEMENT:
To increase local recognition of Family Strengthening and Support as a field of practice, and build the capacity of local providers in the field.

A significant achievement is the establishment of funding for Family Resource Centers (FRCs). The FRCs are the first of their kind in the state to be funded through the Oklahoma State Department of Health. Each of the FRCs will be family and community-centered, with goals established to focus on family and community resilience and families’ ability to navigate systems.

The Network has become an active leader in partnering with other state agencies in the planning of hope-centered resource centers and through participating in many state advisory meetings and planning groups. This work has helped to re-imagine what services for children and families in Oklahoma could look like. What started with bringing public and private allies together then led to bringing in parents and caregivers to elevate the voices of the families and communities into planning, and ultimately, decision-making.

Through its work with parent advisory-focused development, the Network has become core to supporting the state to join forces with families and communities to address issues together, being guided by their lived experiences and voices.
In 2021, the Children’s Trust of South Carolina began convening Family Resource Centers and supportive partners at the state level to foster peer learning, collaborative work, and capacity building for effective service deliverables and overall better support for families across the state.

The Texas Family Support Network was founded in 2018 by the Prevention and Early Intervention (PEI) Division of the Texas Department of Family Protective Services. The first goal of the Network was to integrate and operationalize the Standards of Quality for Family Strengthening & Support into services for at-risk youth. The Network has developed to include 14 Family and Youth Success Program providers and a growing number of other PEI-funded programs who commit to working with the Standards. In state fiscal year 2022, PEI awarded funding to seven organizations to implement Family Resource Centers.

In September 2021, the Prevention and Early Intervention (PEI) Division funded 5 Family Resource Centers and has since increased this to 7. Services for most of these FRCs began by March 2022.

PEI grounded the FRC work in the Standards of Quality, setting training on and the use of them as contract requirements. This has helped with the establishment of family-centered programs.

The Texas Alliance of Child and Family Services and the Texas Center for Child and Family Studies developed and conducted a statewide landscape scan to identify existing FRCs. Half of the 44 organizations who responded self-identified their organization as an FRC, 68% of the remaining organizations were interested in becoming one.

Successfully pivoted to coordinating and providing virtual Standards of Quality Certification Trainings throughout the state.

Successfully offered a virtual hybrid training incorporating components of Youth Thrive as a way to introduce the Strengthening Families Protective Factors.

Engaged in an eight month planning process to explore a partnership with Prevent Child Abuse Utah for both fiscal and administrative support.

15 hybrid presentations on the Strengthening Families Protective Factors were provided.

MISSION STATEMENT:
To provide members the most current research-based information. The network provides an evidence-based framework, training, opportunities for collaboration, and support for network members.
The Network is a statewide coalition of community-based nonprofit Parent Child Centers (PCC) written into state statute, with a common aim to help all Vermont families get off to a healthy start, and to promote family and community well-being. Each PCC provides eight core services: home visiting, early childhood services, parent education, playgroups, parent support groups, concrete supports, community development, and resources and referrals. Services are multi-generational, strength-based, and designed to ensure that all parents and caregivers of young children have the support and resources they need to nurture their children and families. Rooted in the belief that the voice and experience of every family matters, PCCs are committed to bringing those voices to regional and statewide advocacy efforts.

Highlights

• Network officially launched in spring 2021 after a strong coalition of Family Resource Centers (FRCs) successfully advocated the legislature to formally define FRCs in state statute.

• In winter 2021, the Network secured $5M from the state legislature for capacity building of FRCs, including hiring family advocates or positions related to data, evaluation, and continuous quality improvement.

• The WA Department of Children, Youth, and Families officially recognized the Network in early 2022, providing a sole source contract to provide the Standards of Quality Certification Training for free to FRCs statewide.

Highlights

• With funding from the WI Child Abuse and Neglect Prevention Board since 2018, SFTA has supported local family support agencies with training and individualized technical assistance.

• SFTA coordinated 27 evidence-based parent education trainings resulting in over 260 professionals being accredited to offer the highly-researched Triple P program.

• SFTA and the WI Child Abuse and Neglect Prevention Board have been co-coordinating a FRC Infrastructure pilot grant project with 10 FRCs, including urban, rural, newer, and long-standing programs. The overall goal is to ensure that families throughout the state receive the same quality and approach to family support services wherever they live.

• This project is developing uniform structural elements to support a high-quality spectrum of family support service based on three frameworks: the Standards of Quality, the Strengthening Families Protective Factors Framework, and Wisconsin’s Core Competencies for Family Support Professionals.

• A key element of the project is to incorporate the voice of parents and develop parent leadership at each FRC.

Outcomes

• 10 Family Resource Centers have participated in the FRC Infrastructure pilot.
• 100% of the FRC infrastructure grantees have completed the Standards of Quality Program Self Assessment and have developed action plans with goals to advance Family Centeredness, Evaluation, and Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion
• In October 2021, 286 participants from 10 FRCs completed the Standards of Quality Participant Survey, which indicated that 99% agreed or strongly agreed that participating in the FRC was a valuable experience.

YEAR FOUNDED

Alaska is in the early stages of establishing its Family Resource Center Network and joined the National Family Support Network in January 2022. A steering committee of tribal partners, school districts, private agencies, government leaders, and public child welfare professionals have come together to create a plan for the statewide initiative. The goal is to connect and strengthen families through community support, safely reducing the need for child protective services involvement and improving child and family well-being.

Virginia decided to launch the Virginia Family Resource Center Network as part of its work with the Thriving Families, Safer Children Initiative. The emerging Network joined the National Family Support Network in March 2022. The Network is coordinated by Families Forward Virginia and is currently working on Network and Family Resource Center development.

Network Structure: Independent Nonprofit
Founded in 2011, the National Family Support Network (NFSN) is the United States’ membership organization for state Networks of Family Resource Centers. Its mission is to promote positive outcomes for all children, families, and communities by leveraging the collective impact of state Networks and championing quality family support and strengthening practices and policies.
